CIRCULAR NO: 37/2025-26

Dated: 22.12.2025

As the IGCSE examinations draw near, we arrive at a moment that holds the quiet weight of two years of dreams, diligence, and determination. It is not merely the culmination of a syllabus or the ticking of a timeline; it is the threshold between what has been learnt and what will now be lived.

To Our Parents

You have been the unseen scaffolding behind every late-night revision, every anxious sigh, every gentle reassurance. Your patience has steadied trembling hands; your faith has stitched courage into hearts that sometimes doubted themselves. This season is as much yours as it is your child's, for you have journeyed every step beside them, carrying hopes as quietly and as faithfully as only a parent can.

Now, as your children stand at the brink of their first great academic test, may your calm become their anchor. Continue to hold the circle of safety and grace around them, one that is without judgment, without pressure, a space that reminds them that effort matters as much as outcome, that love outlasts every result, and that faith can move mountains.

To Our Students

There comes a moment, somewhere between preparation and performance, when time itself feels suspended. This, right here, is your moment. Not yesterday's when you doubted yourself, not tomorrow's when results will be declared, but this moment when you stand poised, ready to give everything you have. These days of preparation, these hours of quiet focus, they belong to you. No one can take them away. Not expectations, not comparisons, not fear. You have earned this ground through sweat, resolve, and courage. Step into it fully. When fatigue whispers that you have done all you can, remember that within you lie reserves you have not yet discovered. Go forward with the quiet fire of conviction, the kind that does not shout but shines steadily. You owe this to yourself, to become everything you once imagined you could be.

As you step into this defining chapter, know that you are not alone. Each of you carries with you the faith of your teachers, the love of your parents, and the blessings of your school family.

You are not merely in our prayers for these examinations; you are forever in them. May your effort be steady, your spirit kind, and your dreams vast enough to humble you.

In faith and pride. Always.
